

Barry S. Dubos

As a life time resident of the New Orleans area, Barry S. Dubos believes that education is the key to our existence in a Global Economy.

A graduate of the University of New Orleans, with a BS in Biology (1981), and a Masters degree in Education Curriculum and Instruction Secondary Sciences (1987), Mr. Dubos completed +30 credit hours of additional studies in Education, Chemistry, Biology, and Physics. Mr. Dubos holds a Louisiana Teaching Certificate in the following areas: General Science, Biology, Chemistry, Physics, Environmental Science, Earth Science, Mathematics and Supervisor of Student Teachers. He has worked for the Orleans Parish School System since 1978, up until he took a teaching position at Edna Karr High School after Katrina. Within the framework of the Teacher Advancement Program, Barry S. Dubos works with Karr's faculty and students as a Master Teacher.