

Joseph “Roch” Weilbaeher - M.Ed., NBCT, CAA

As a teacher I effort to effectively educate all students in order to facilitate them becoming leaders of our proud New Orleans community. By combining my educational background and my love of learning, I bring a unique teaching technique to my classroom on a daily basis. Having taught in both public and private schools I synthesize all effective school related formulas in order to facilitate learning at the highest possible level for ALL students in my class. By working “outside” the school setting, I am able to bring a “real-world” perspective to my students. I look forward to working with students daily in order for them to “reach the next level”.

EDUCATION

2005-2006 Master of Science Education - Secondary Teaching, Loyola University New Orleans

2004-2005 Nationally Board Certified Teacher - Social Studies (AYA) - NBPTS

1999-2003 Certified Athletic Administrator (CAA), NIAAA, National High School Federation

1984-1987 Bachelor of Arts - Social Studies Education, Southern University at New Orleans

1980-1984 Magna Cum Laude Graduate, Jesuit High School New Orleans

From 1990 until today I have been a teacher at Edna Karr School where I have taught the following subjects: Civics, U.S. History, Algebra II, Geometry, Algebra I, ACT/SAT Prep, Video Production. Some of my other responsibilities include: Athletic Director, Senior Class Sponsor, Key Club moderator, Assistant basketball coach.

In addition to my educational interest, I have also had an outstanding experience in the “out-of-school” world. In the film industry, I was the coordinator for all on-screen basketball scenes in the Disney Studios/Jerry Bruckheimer Film - Glory Road. Additionally, I filmed the instructional video: Steve Nash MVP Basketball with two-time NBA MVP Steve Nash. For the past ten summers I have also served as an Amateur Athletic Union (AAU is the largest amateur sports organization in America with over 1 million members) commissioner at various AAU National Championship events.

Before coming to Karr I was a teacher at Archbishop Rummel High School where I taught the following subjects: Civics, U.S. History, Algebra II, Geometry, Algebra I. My other duties included: Sophomore Class Sponsor, Assistant basketball and baseball coach.

I have also done volunteer work for the New Orleans Sports Foundation (NOSF) at the following events: NCAA Final Four, NCAA Regionals, AAU Junior Olympic Games and NFL Super Bowl.
